

Practical Session 4: Scheme (Lists)

1 Lists

Scheme is a dialect of LISP, which stands for List Processor and lists are at the core of LISP languages. They are the main data structure and the language is designed to manipulate them in many ways, and use them to define more complex data structures.